GirlfriendsCafe Expands Into All 50 States in Just Four Months!

Daytona Beach Florida - July 9, 2007 - A dream becomes a reality in just four short months! In March, two long term friends envisioned creating a new social networking web site geared towards women in the United States and Canada. Their goal was to create an online community which would provide a safe haven for women to communicate with each other and have fun. Now just four months later, GirlfriendsCafe.com already has a thriving membership base of thousands of women in all 50 states.

The site is free to all members. Women can choose from the exciting menu to create their own personal online profile; talk in chat rooms; post on message boards; create their own and view other member blogs and be connected to their friends through instant chat. Girlfriendscafe has also set up a post office for its members to send and receive email. In addition, through our photo gallery; contests for prizes; birthdays and Inspirations sections; and the monthly newsletters, members return regularly to partake in the latest happening and search for our newest girlfriends.

The site was the brainstorm of two long time friends, Linda and Lee. Their motto - Created by girlfriends...for Girlfriends, says it all. The site is filled with ways in which to communicate with existing friends, as well as meet new ones in a safe environment where thoughts and ideas can be freely exchanged. "We just wanted to build an online community for women of all walks of life", says Lee. "Whether you are a professional, stay at home mom, newly divorced or widowed, and whether you are young or older, there is a place for you at Girlfriendscafe.com" adds Linda.

The site creators have been best friends for over 20 years. Their lives have taken them in many different directions over the years. Staying in contact with each other has given them consistency. Men have come and gone, but these girlfriends were there to stay through thick and thin. "Only another woman can truly empathize and understand when you dye your hair and it ends up green instead of the color shown on the box. There is a language that women speak. We understand each other." says Linda.

As the founders have learned "diamonds are nice! ... but the best things in life a woman can have ... are Girlfriends!
